What We Have Done

90% of high school students take at least one civics class, and most states have a requirement.¹

40% more students are likely to vote when they turn 18 if they learn about voting.²

Civic participation was found to increase patriotism.³

What Needs Improvement

60% of rural youth and 30% of their urban and suburban peers live in places without access to meaningful civic engagement options.⁴

25% attain proficiency on the NAEP Civics Assessment. While, wealthy students are four to six times more likely to exceed that level.⁵

What We Need to Do

Make high quality civic education a priority for ALL K-12 students.

Implement the Six Proven Practices* for Civic Education.

Assure district and school support to social studies teachers using civic education’s proven practices.

Increase attention to media literacy education.

“Six Proven Practices

1. Provide instruction in government, history, law, and democracy.

2. Incorporate discussion of current local, national, and international issues and events in the classroom, particularly those that young people view as important to their lives.

3. Design and implement programs that provide students with opportunities to apply what they learn through performing community service that is linked to the formal curriculum and classroom instruction.

4. Offer extracurricular activities that provide opportunities for young people to get involved in their schools or communities.

5. Encourage student participation in school governance.

6. Encourage students’ participation in simulations of democratic processes and procedures.
